

Evening Illustrated Ledger

MONDAY

May 10, 1915

PERSONS AND SCENES IN DAY'S GRIST OF NEWS FROM HOME AND ABROAD AS CAUGHT BY THE CAMERA

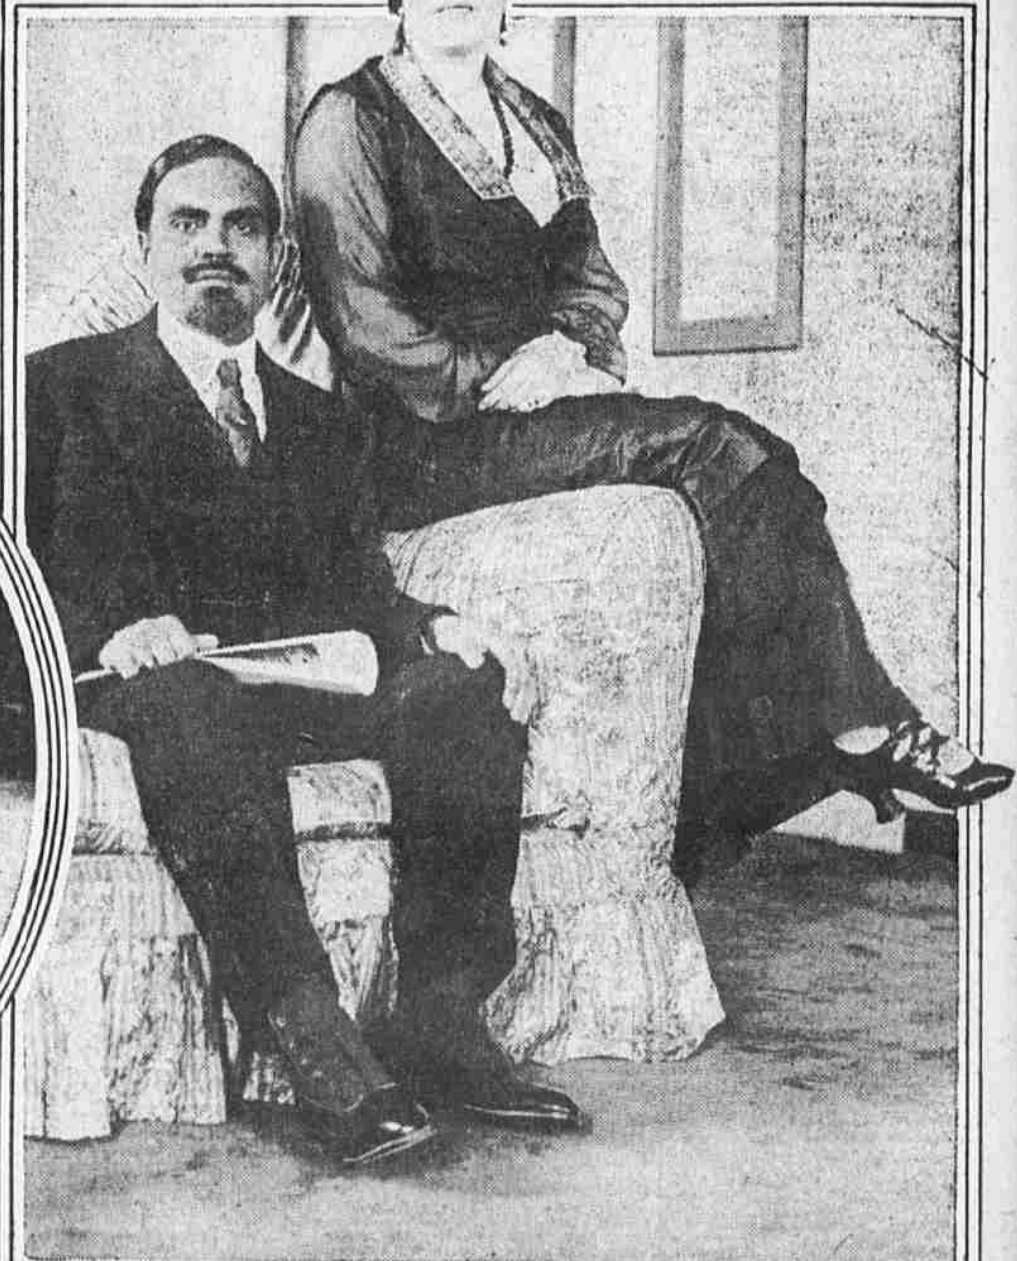

FOUND ON THE SHORE BOARDWALK
The man in the black hat is John K. Tener, baseball president and ex-Governor. His friend is Dr. G. H. Reese, superintendent of the Shamokin Fate Hospital. They were caught when week-ending by the sea.

"PLEASE, MISTER, THROW SAND ON ME!"
Miss Helen Owens, of Philadelphia, in a very receptive attitude on the beach at Atlantic City. She was one of thousands there yesterday.

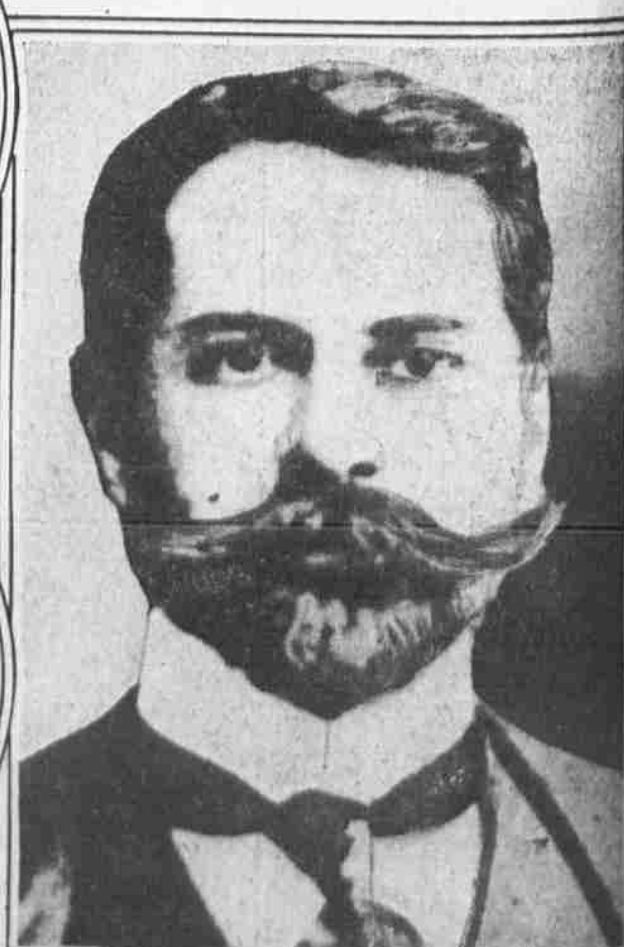

THE 1915 BATHING GIRL IS OUT
A snapshot of one of the more pleasing views on the beach at the shore.

SHE IS ONE OF SIX, BUT HAPPY NONE THE LESS
The Maharajah of Kapurthala and his bride—the sixth. She is a Spaniard. They are going to the fair at San Francisco. They came direct to this country from India.

A LITTLE MEDAL FOR A GREAT MAN
Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, is here seen presenting a medal to the inventor of the phonograph, electric light and some other trifles. Mr. Edison, who received the medal from the Civic Forum, was referred to as "inventor-world benefactor."

FINANCIAL GIANT OF SOUTH AMERICA COMES TO THE UNITED STATES
Samuel Hale Pearson is representing the Argentine republic at the International Congress of Finance, which meets in Washington today. He controls billions of dollars invested in South American enterprises, and is known as "the J. P. Morgan of South America." He and his family are on their way to the Panama Pacific Exposition. Mrs. Pearson is on the left, Miss Isabel Pearson in the upper circle and Miss Maria Teresa Pearson, the eldest daughter, in the lower circle. They are regarded as exceptionally beautiful women.